Re: Giuffre v. Maxwell
Case no. 15-cv-07433-RWS – Regarding Redactions in Sealed Opinion
Regarding Subpoena to Paul G. Cassell

Dear Judge Sweet,

On August 30, 2016, the Court issues a ruling on Cassell's motion to quash and directed the parties to meet and confer within two weeks as to whether any redaction were required in the Court's opinion before it was made public. That same day, undersigned counsel sent an email to counsel for defendant Maxwell, indicating that it was Cassell's position that no further redactions were necessary. Undersigned counsel also asked defendant's counsel to either advise the Court that it was both sides' position that no redactions were necessary or to contact the undersigned.

In the two weeks since that email was sent, defense counsel has not responded. Accordingly, undersigned counsel sends this letter advising that Cassell believes no redactions are required to the Court's opinion.

Respectfully submitted,

Paul G. Cassell, Esq.- pro se
